Waves Platform at a Glance

WAVES is a decentralized blockchain platform with the focus on user tokens. Payments in national currencies on the WAVES platform are supported by operators of the corresponding gateways. The decentralized exchange for tokens allows to carry out fundraising, crowdfunding and trading financial instruments directly on blockchain, which excludes participation of third parties in transactions. WAVES mission is to provide companies with a tool to conduct the ICO (Initial Coin Offering) and form capital, which will become an alternative to the traditional fundraising from investors and investment funds. Waves users, in turn, enjoy all the benefits of a decentralized exchange with full access to their own funds. In other words, when using the exchange, the funds are stored on the user's balance, in the same way as when they are leased.

Please note that you can also use the WAVES / DEX desktop Wallet or the online version. To download the desktop or use the online version please visit <https://wavesplatform.com> to download or sign up. Also note that the illustrations may differ slightly from what you may see online and in the desktop version as the platform had recently been updated. The procedures and steps are still the same.

When you click on the "I UNDERSTAND" button, you agree that you have read the text above and understand the basic principle of cryptographic operation using a SEED value.

Important about SEED

SEED is a private key that is a string of 15 words selected using cryptographic algorithms.

Waves uses the technology of brain wallet, which means there is no .dat file keeping your private keys. Instead of that there is a WALLET SEED which is a string of 15 random words that allow to gain access to the WAVES address.

Losing your SEED = losing access to WAVES tokens and WAVES assets. We strongly encourage you to put down your SEED on a piece of paper in several copies and store them in safe places.

Important. SEED format: there are spaces between the words but no spaces before the first word and after the last word in the combination. Once you click "I UNDERSTAND", a SEED phrase and your Waves address will be generated.
